

WVH Supply Chain Announcement - Weathering the Storm

willamettevalleyhops.com

To all of our Brewery Partners:

We want to reassure our brewing partners that our leadership team is closely monitoring the situation related to Coronavirus (COVID-19). The staff here at WVH is taking the proper precautions to ensure that our team, facilities and products are safe during these challenging times.

Here at Willamette Valley Hops, our mission is to ensure a consistently high quality and dependable supply chain for your brewing needs. This means adapting to a rapidly changing environment. We are completely committed to meeting your needs throughout the current situation and beyond.

Customer service has always been our priority and will remain so during this challenge. We realize the strain that governmental actions such as forced taproom closures will put on your business. We are here to support you in every way possible.

Order Fulfillment:

WVH staff members are here to fulfill orders and are in close contact with our transport partners so that we can anticipate any potential issues of delivering our products to customers. Currently, we do not foresee any risk or interruption in the delivery of our hop products. We will keep you updated if there is any cause for concern.

The Brewers Association has assembled a very good resource web site for the brewing community. We highly recommend visiting this site for a comprehensive listing of resources and links that can help you with not only medical links, but also business resources that can serve to inform and help to weather the storm:

If you have need for specific support from us during these times, please contact your local sales rep, or contact the office directly at hops@wvhops.com

Best regards,

Bruce P. Wolf
